Product Information

Gold

Throughout history, gold has been one of the most sought-after metals in the world. It's been used as currency, to decorate objects as a thing of beauty, and is also used for industrial purposes. In the jewelry industry, the word "gold," when used by itself, means "all gold" or "pure" gold, meaning 24 karat (24K) gold. Because 24K gold is soft, it's usually mixed with other metals called alloys to increase its hardness and durability. If a piece of jewelry is not 24 karat gold, the karat quality should accompany any claim that the item is gold. The karat quality marking tells you what proportion of gold is mixed with the other metals. Fourteen-karat (14K) jewelry contains 14/24 or 58.3% gold, with 10/24 parts of an alloy metal. The higher the karat rating, the higher the proportion of gold in the piece of jewelry.

Product Care

- Gold is a soft metal prone to scratching, and is usually mixed with other alloy metals to increase it's hardness.
- Gold has a tendency to tarnish, depending on the percentage of other metals mixed with the gold.
- The best way to clean gold jewelry is to take it to a professional jeweler for cleaning.
